312/Kenny

Case - Timothy N. Pfeiffer,
Subject - Homicide, New Brunswick, N.J.,
Operative - 312.

November 11, 1922. Continuing on the above matter, Operative roamed about Town during the morning.

At about 1.30 p.m. Operative proceeded to and located in the railroad station, and entered in conversation with Garry Kenny, and another fellow by the name of White.

At 2.20 p.m. two fellows came over to Garry and said, "Well, Garry, I heard that they are going to arrest somebody today for the murder."

Shortly after the above remark, Operative left the railroad station and proceeded to the corner of George & Albany Streets.

While in the last named locality, Operative overheard one of the newspaper reporters remark, "Mrs. Gibson is going to be at the railroad station to point out the guy that was up there on the night of the murder."

Upon hearing the last mentioned remark, Operative immediately proceeded to the railroad station. After talking to Garry Kenny a short while, Operative proceeded upstairs and out upon the station platform. While upstairs in the station, Operative overheard a fellow remark, "She ought to go somewhere before they trap her, why she's a faker; she has made a bunch of money out of the story she told." Operative also observed several reporters, and a woman who is known as a detective for the "New York News," in conversation.

The woman above referred to was heard to remark, "Well, she will have to make good, she will have to point out someone."

Operative was unable to locate Mrs. Gibson about the station, but Operative is most certain that he did see Mr. Mason there, and that at the time he was observed by Operative, Mr. Mason was wearing a Brown Overcoat and a soft Brown Hat.

After a time Operative again proceeded downstairs to the newstand and joined Garry Kenny. Garry remarked to Operative, "It's a wonder they haven't
